Clarification#: 1

Clarification No.	Volume & Section	Question or Comment	Mn/DOT Response
1-1	RFQ 3.3.1	Regarding the "Personnel one level below Construction Project Manager". Are we being requested to identify the Construction Project Manager here as well or just personnel below that level?	Just the personnel below that level of the Construction Project Manager. Construction Project Manager and Contractor's Project Manager are the same position. This will be updated by Addendum.
1-2	RFQ 3.3.1	Is the Construction Project Manager a required position that is different than the Contractor's Project Manager noted in the Level A Personnel column?	Construction Project Manager and Contractor's Project Manager are the same position. This will be updated by Addendum.
1-3	RFQ 2.8	What if our company currently has a contract with Mn/DOT to perform work on the design-build project. Are we precluded from doing work? At what point does Mn/DOT consider "joining a design-build team."	Mn/DOT has posted it's design-build conflict of interest approach on the following website: http://www.dot.state.mn.us/designbuild/ and the RFQ describes in detail the conflict of interest requirements for the project. Points 1 and 2 of the conflict of interest approach addresses this question. If you currently have a contract with Mn/DOT (or other key stakeholder) for any work related to the project, all final deliverables must be completed and provided to Mn/DOT by the time a Statement of Qualifications (SOQ) is submitted by a design-build team for which your company joined. It is not necessary to have final invoicing completed. Your company must also demonstrate to Mn/DOT that there was no unfair competitive advantage by your firm in doing this work. This information must be provided within the SOQ as described in Section 3.7.2 of the RFQ. Upon review of this information, Mn/DOT will
