

Adobe Acrobat - [I-494.pdf]

File DM Edit Document Tools View Window Help

125%

Adobe Acrobat Toolbar (See Next Page)

West Side I-494
East Side I-494

Show / Hide Bookmarks

Page I-494.17 Page I-494.19 I-494.21

User's can navigate to the appropriate sheet by clicking on a "Bookmark" or by clicking on the Map.

Navigation Pane

Show / Hide Navigation Pane

Minnesota Department of Transportation
Metro Traffic Engineering

Road: I-494 EB
Links: From Junction with I-94 to TH 55
Lanes: 2
Data Source: RTMC

Count Date: April/May 2003
Signalized: No
Station: 705
Detectors: 2874, 2875

Allowable Lane Closure

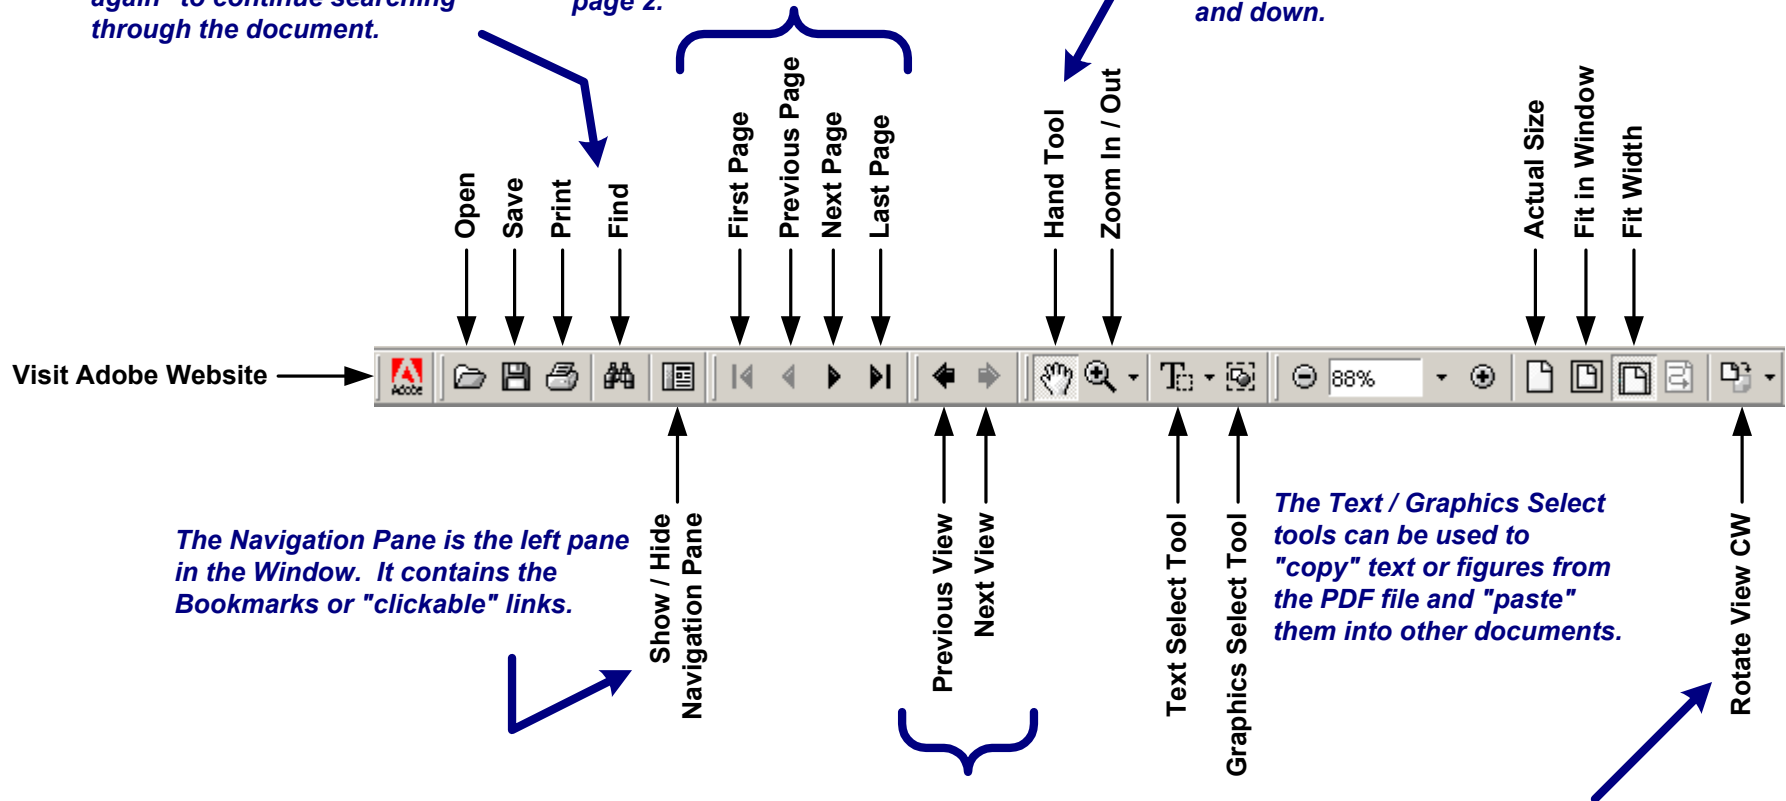

Date	Day	Hours	MON	TUE	WED	THUR	FRI	Average Weekday	SAT	SUN	Date	Day	Hours
				178	201	213	265	212	384	415			12-01AM
				128	143	142	173	140	268	299			01-02
			107	111	110	127	123	116	1	158	152		02-03
			207	211	216	218	186	208	144	125			03-04

3 of 26 8.5 x 11 in

"Find" will search for the first instance of a word, etc. in the open document. The keyboard shortcut "Ctrl + G" will "find again" to continue searching through the document.

"First" and "Last" correspond to Page 1 and the Last Page in the document. "Previous" and "Next" refer to the pages in numerical order. For, example if you are on page 3 and you "click" the "Previous" button, you will navigate to page 2.

The "Hand Tool" can be used to navigate within the document. By holding the left mouse button down in the document pane, the hand "grips" the page, the user can then move the page left to right and up and down.

The Navigation Pane is the left pane in the Window. It contains the Bookmarks or "clickable" links.

Previous View and Next View function like the "Back" and "Forward" buttons on your web browser. For example, if you navigated to page 3 from page 10, then "clicked" the Previous View button, you would navigate back to page 10, not page 2.

The Text / Graphics Select tools can be used to "copy" text or figures from the PDF file and "paste" them into other documents.

The rotate view buttons allow users to rotate the page on the computer screen for ease of viewing.